

The Illinois Leadership Council for Agricultural Education (ILCAE) is a statewide organization of individuals representing all segments of the agricultural industry. ILCAE exists to secure the future of Agriculture in Illinois through the continual advancement of quality Agricultural Education.

The objectives of the ILCAE

- Promote education in and about Agriculture.
- Address the changing needs of Agricultural Education to strengthen its viability and competitiveness.
- Develop funding mechanisms involving, and for the benefits of, all groups with vested interests in Agricultural Education.

The Illinois Committee on Agricultural Education (ICAE) was appointed by then Governor Thompson in April 1987. It is comprised of thirteen agricultural leaders charged with developing and advising the Illinois State Board of Education in the implementation of Building Illinois Through Quality Agricultural Education Plan. The Governor will appoint replacement members to this committee.
